CORRESPONDENCE.

ADDI-ON, Pa., Feb. 24, 1868.

DEAR MEYERS:—I was standing at my desk, a day or two since, writing an article of some importance, (at least to me,) when Squire William entered and told me he had seen and conversed with my friend Meyers, of the BEDFORD GAZETTE.

The train of thought was broken. The thick-coming fancies were all dispelled, and memory immediately was busied with the buried past, buried more effectually to me than others, as there is now scarcely an interest, or a link, to connect me with it. But "let the dead past bury its dead;" your place is emphatically with the living present. You have a post in the Grand Army of Regeneration, and this is no time for "gentle dalliance in a lady's chamber," or for the lascivious pleasings of the lute. The hour demands vigorous workers as well as thinkers, when power is in the hands of men, without moral or legal restraint, bitterly hostile to everything that our fathers loved, who are breaking down every social barrier between the proud race to whom this country belongs, whose sacred birth-right it is, and who cannot sell it for a price without incurring an eternity of infamy, and the degraded race who have borne and will bear, the badge of inferiority and servitude, despite the mad efforts of the misguided men, who now control the Nation's destinies, and who will live in History as men recreant to God, to Country and Humanity.

Then the people are at length awakened, the cry of "Rights or Revolution," is swelling on the prairies of the West, and from thence, for some time to come, will the men be taken, who as the representatives of ideas originating and sustained there, will sway this Nation for good or evil. Let us pray the former.

That cry is a deeply significant and suggestive one, and woe to him who heeds it not. Temporary political damnation, which politicians appear to dread more than any, or all the denunciations in Holy Writ, is the least of the evils that will afflict them.

There is truth in the old adage, that the gods make mad, whom they intend to destroy, as is abundantly proved by the declaration of a Radical Senator that Congress would soon control the Ballot Box in all the States. Control the States, indeed! Why, you can hear the slogan sounding now, that shall be the coronach of the "God and morality," "loil," nigger-loving crew who strut and swelter in the capitol, clothed in corruption, reeking with innocent blood, and drunken with the wine of abomination. Before the specified five years of the "loil" Senator, the whole crew will have been scourged from the Capitol and will have called upon rocks and mountains to hide them from the scorn and indignation of an outraged people. May God in his goodness avert the storm of bloodshed and ruin, the fearful retribution, into which these men are so madly goading a long suffering people.

The old Know-Nothing leaders, in disguise, fresh from persecuting and murdering one class of our citizens, have abandoned their old incendiary cry, the gathering cry of the Church-burners, "America for Americans," and are now shouting another, equally as specious, as damnable—"America for the Africans." Oh, worse than foolish! The specious cries, "Rebellion," "Treason," "Loilty," will no longer avail you. The brass on Grant's coat, in Stanton's cheek, cannot save you.—The worn out twaddle of the last seven years, is impotent for political effect and stripped of your false colors of patriotism and humanity, you will be turned out to meet the scorn of all good men, and the revilings, may hap the torturing, of the bad. For your servile tools who have hunted to the death so many true men, who burned and mobbed, and exulted in the devil's work you set for them, will burn and rend you, as the dogs did Jezebel and will employ the lessons you taught them, for your own destruction, notwithstanding, "that the colored troops fought nobly."

If the foregoing, suits you, Messrs. Editors, it is entirely at your service, and you will again hear from me, if you see fit to "print" it.

Very truly, &c., ZINGARO.

MESSAGE OF THE PRESIDENT.

His Reasons for the Removal of Mr. Stanton—Able Argument and Defense.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The President to-day sent to the Senate the following message. It was read in secret session, laid on the table and ordered to be printed. The Senate removed the injunction of secrecy:

To the Senate of the United States:—I have received a copy of the resolution adopted by the Senate on the 21st instant, as follows:

"Whereas the Senate have received and considered the communication of the President stating that he had removed Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary of War, and had designated the Adjutant General of the Army to act as Secretary of War ad interim: therefore

"Resolved by the Senate of the United States, That under the constitution and laws of the United States the President has no power to remove the Secretary of War and designate any other officer to perform the duties of that office ad interim."

This resolution is confined to the power of the President to remove the Secretary of War and to designate another officer to perform the duties of the office ad interim, and by its preamble is made expressly applicable to the removal of Mr. Stanton, and the designation to act ad interim of the Adjutant General of the army.—Without, therefore, attempting to discuss the general power of removal as to all officers, upon which subject no expression of opinion is contained in the resolution, I shall confine myself to the question as thus limited—the power to remove the Secretary of War.

It is declared in the resolution "that under the constitution and laws of the United States the President has no power to remove the Secretary of War and designate any other officer to perform the duties of that office ad interim." As to the question of power under the constitution I do not propose at present to enter upon its discussion. The uniform practice from the beginning of the government, as established by every President who has exercised the office, and the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States, have settled the question in favor of the power of the President to remove all officers excepting a class holding appointments of a judicial character.—No practice, or any decision, has excepted a Secretary of War from this general power of the President to make removals from office. It is only necessary, then, that I should refer to the power of the Executive under the laws of the United States, to remove from office a Secretary of War. The resolution denies that under these laws this power has any existence. In other words, it affirms that no such authority is recognized or given by the statutes of the country.—What, then, are the laws of the United States which deny the President the power to remove that officer? I know but two laws which bear upon this question. The first in order of time is the act of August 7th, 1789, creating the Department of War, which, after providing for a Secretary as its principal officer, proceeds as follows:

"Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That there shall be in the said department an inferior officer, to be appointed by the said principal officer, to be employed therein as he shall deem proper, to be called the chief clerk in the Department of War, and who, whenever the said principal officer shall be removed from office by the President of the United States, or in any other case of vacancy, shall, during such vacancy, have the charge and custody of all records, books and papers appertaining to the said department."

It is clear that this act, passed by a Congress many of whose members participated in the formation of the constitution, so far from denying the power of the President to remove the Secretary of War, recognizes it as existing in the Executive alone, without the concurrence of the Senate or of any other department of the government. Furthermore, this act does not purport to confer the power by legislative authority, nor in fact was there any other existing legislation through which it was brought upon the Executive.

The recognition of the power by this act is therefore complete as a recognition under the constitution itself, for there was no other source or authority from which it could be derived. The other act which refers to this question is that regulating the tenure of certain civil officers, passed by Congress on the second day of March, 1867. The first section of that act is in the following words: "That every person holding any civil office to which he has been appointed by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and every person who shall hereafter be appointed to any such office, and shall become qualified to act therein, is and shall be entitled to hold such office until a successor shall have been in like manner appointed and duly qualified, except as herein otherwise provided.—Provided that the Secretaries of State, of the Treasury, of War, of the Navy, and of the Interior, the Postmaster General and the Attorney General, shall hold their offices, respectively, for and during the term of the President by whom they may have been appointed, and for one month thereafter, subject to removal by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

The fourth section of the same act restricts the term of offices to the limit prescribed by the law creating them. That part of the first section which precedes the proviso declares that every person holding a civil office to which he has been or may be appointed, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall hold such office until a successor shall have been in like manner appointed. It purports to take from the Executive, during the fixed time established for the tenure of the office, the independent power of removal, and to require for such removal the concurrent action of the President and the Senate.—The proviso that follows proceeds to fix the term of office of seven heads of departments whose tenure never had been defined before, by prescribing that they "shall hold their offices, respectively, for and during the term of the President by whom they may have been appointed, and for one month thereafter, subject to removal by and with the advice and consent of the Senate."

Thus, as to these enumerated officers, the proviso takes from the President the power of removal except with the advice and consent of the Senate. By its terms, before he can be deprived of the power to displace them, it must appear that he himself has appointed them. It is only in that case that they have any tenure of office or any independent right to hold during the term of the President, and for one month after the cessation of his official functions.

The proviso, therefore, gives no tenure of office, to any one of these officers who has been appointed by a former President beyond one month after the accession of his successor.

In the case of Mr. Stanton the only appointment under which he held the office of Secretary of War was that conferred upon him by my immediate predecessor, with the advice and consent of the Senate. He has never held from me any appointment as the head of the War Department. Whatever right he had to hold the office was derived from that original appointment and my own sufferance.

The law was not intended to protect such an incumbent of the War Department by taking from the President the power to remove him. This, in my judgment, is perfectly clear, and the law itself admits of no other just construction. We find in all that portion of the first section which precedes the proviso that as to civil officers generally, the president is deprived of the power of removal; and it is plain that if there had been no proviso, that power would just as clearly have been taken from him, so far as it applies to the seven heads of the departments, but for reasons which were no doubt satisfactory to Congress, these principal officers were specially provided for, and as to them the express and only requirement is that the president who has appointed them shall not, without the advice and consent of the Senate, remove them from office. The consequence is that as to my cabinet, embracing the seven officers designated in the first section, the act takes from me the power, without the concurrence of the Senate, to remove any one of them that I have appointed, but does not protect such of them as I did not appoint, nor give to them any tenure of office beyond my pleasure.

An examination of this act then, shows that while in one part of the section provision is made for officers generally, in another clause there is a class of officers designated by their official titles, who are excepted by the general terms of the law, and in reference to whom a clear distinction is made as to the general power of removal limited in the first clause of the section. This distinction is that as to such of these enumerated officers as hold under the appointment of the President, the power of removal can only be exercised by him with the consent of the Senate, while as to those who have not been appointed by him there is no like denial of his power to displace them. It would be a violation of the plain meaning of this enactment to place Mr. Stanton upon the same footing as those heads of departments who have been appointed by myself. As to him, this law gives him no tenure of office.

The members of my cabinet, who have been appointed by me, are by this act entitled to hold for one month after the term of my office shall cease; but Mr. Stanton could not, against the wishes of my successor, hold a moment thereafter. If he were permitted by that successor to hold for the first two weeks, would that successor have no power to remove him? But the power of my successor over him could be no greater than my own. If my successor would have the power to remove Mr. Stanton after permitting him to remain a period of two weeks, because he was not appointed by him, but by his predecessor, I, who have tolerated Mr. Stanton for more than two years, certainly have the same right to remove him, and upon the same ground, namely, that he was not appointed by me, but by my predecessor.

Under this construction of the tenure-of-office act, I have never doubted my power to remove Mr. Stanton.—Whether the act was constitutional or not, it was always my opinion that it did not secure him from removal. I was, however, aware that there were doubts as to the construction of the law, and from the first I deemed it desirable that at the earliest possible moment those doubts should be settled, and the true construction of the act fixed by the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States. My order of suspension, in August last, was intended to place the case in such a position as would make a resort to a judicial decision both necessary and proper. My understanding and wishes, however, under that order of suspension, were frustrated, and the last order for Mr. Stanton's removal was a further step towards the accomplishment of that purpose.

I repeat that my own convictions as to the true construction of the law, and as to its constitutionality, were well settled and were sustained by every member of my cabinet, including Mr. Stanton himself. Upon ths question of constitutionality each one in turn deliberately advised me that the tenure-of-office act was unconstitutional. Upon the question whether, as to those members who were appointed by my predecessor, that act took from me the power to remove them, one of those members emphatically stated in the presence of the others sitting in cabinet, that they did not come within the provisions of the act, and it was no protection to them; no one dissented from this construction, and I understood them all to acquiesce in its correctness.

In a matter of such grave consequence I was not disposed to rest upon my own opinions though fortified by my constitutional advisers. I have therefore sought to bring the question at as early a day as possible before the Supreme Court of the United States for final and authoritative decision. In respect to so much of the resolution as relates to the designation of an officer to act as Secretary of War ad interim, I have only to say that I have exercised this power under the provisions of the first section of the act of February 13, 1795, which, so far as they are applicable to vacancies caused by removals, I understand to be still in force. The legislation upon the subject of ad interim appointments in the executive departments stands as to the War Office as follows:

The second section of the act of the 7th of August, 1789, makes provision for a vacancy in the very case of a removal of the head of the War Department, and upon such a vacancy gives the charge and custody of the records, books and papers to the chief clerk.—Next, by the act of the 8th of May, 1792, section 8, it is provided that in case of vacancy occasioned by death, absence from the seat of government, or sickness of the head of the War Department, the President may authorize a person to perform the duties of the office until a successor is appointed or the disability removed.

The act, it will be observed, does not provide for the case of a vacancy caused by the removal. Then by the first section of the act of February 13th, 1795, it is provided that in the case of any vacancy the president may appoint a person to perform the duties while the vacancy exists. These acts are followed by that of the 20th February, 1863, by the first section of which provision is again made for vacancy caused by death, resignation, absence from the seat of government, or sickness of the head of any executive department of the government; and upon the occurrence of such a vacancy, power is given to the President to authorize the head of any other executive department, or other officer in either of said departments whose appointment is vested in the President, at his discretion, to perform the duties of the said respective offices until a successor be appointed, or until such absence of inability by sickness shall cease; provided that no one vacancy shall be supplied in the manner aforesaid for a longer term than six months.

This law, with some modifications, re-enacts the acts of 1792, and provides as did that act, for the sort of vacancies so to be filled, but, like the act of 1792, it makes no provision for a vacancy occasioned by removal. It has reference altogether to vacancies arising from other causes. According to my construction of the act of 1863, while it impliedly repeals the act of 1792, regulating the vacancies therein described, it has no bearing whatever upon so much of the act of 1795, as applies to a vacancy caused by the removal. The act of 1795, therefore, furnishes the rule for a vacancy occasioned by removal—one of the vacancies expressly referred to in the act of the 7th of August, 1789, creating the department of war.

Certainly there is no express repeal by the act of 1863 of the act of 1795. The repeal, if there is any, is by implication, and can only be admitted so far as there is a clear inconsistency between the acts. The act of 1795 is inconsistent with that of 1863 as to a vacancy occasioned by death, registration, absence or sickness; but not at all inconsistent as to a vacancy caused by removal.

It is assuredly proper that the President should have the same power to fill temporarily a vacancy occasioned by removal as he has to supply a place made vacant by death or expiration of term. If, for instance, the incumbent of an office should be found to be wholly unfit to exercise its functions, and the public service should require his immediate expulsion, a remedy should exist and be at once applied and time be allowed the President to select and appoint a successor, as is permitted him in case of a vacancy caused by death or the termination of an official term.

The necessity, therefore, for an ad interim appointment is just as great, and, indeed, may be greater, in case of removal than in any others. Before it be held, therefore, that the power given by the act of 1795 in cases of removal is abrogated by succeeding legislation, an express repeal ought to appear. So wholesome a power should certainly not be taken away by loose implication. It may be, however, that in this, as in other cases of implied repeal, doubts may rise. It is confessedly one of the most subtle and debatable questions which arise in the construction of statutes.

If upon such a question I have fallen into an erroneous construction, I submit whether it should be characterized as a violation of official duty and of law. I have deemed it proper, in vindication of the course which I have considered it my duty to take, to place before the Senate the reasons upon which I have based my action.

Although I have been advised by every member of my cabinet that the entire tenure-of-office bill act is unconstitutional and therefore void, and although I have expressly concurred in that opinion in the veto message which I had the honor to submit to Congress when I returned the bill for re-consideration, I have refrained from making a removal of any officer contrary to the provisions of the law, and have only exercised that power in the case of Mr. Stanton, which, in my judgment, did not come within its provisions. I have endeavored to proceed with the greatest circumspection, and have acted only in an extreme and exceptional case, carefully following the course which I have marked out for myself, as a general rule, faithfully to execute all laws, though passed over my objections, on the score of constitutionality. In the present instance I have appealed, or sought to appeal, to that final arbiter fixed by the constitution for the determination of all such questions. To this course I have been impelled by the solemn obligations which rest upon me to sustain inviolate the powers of the high office committed to my hands. Whatever may be the consequences, merely personal to myself, I could not allow them to prevail against a public duty so clear to my own mind and so imperative. If what was possible had been certain; if I had been fully advised when I removed Mr. Stanton that in thus defending the trust committed to my hands my own removal was sure to follow, I could not have hesitated, actuated by public considerations of the highest character. I earnestly protest against the resolution of the Senate, which charges me in what I have done with a violation of the constitution and laws of the United States.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

Washington, D. C., February 22, 1868.

WHAT WE ARE TAXED FOR.—We have been taxed half a million of dollars, says the Detroit Free Press, within the last year, to build school houses for the Negroes in the South.

We have been taxed two millions one hundred and fifty-seven thousand dollars to organize the negroes of the South into loyal leagues and get them to the polls to vote for revolutionary conventions in the South.

We have been taxed eight hundred thousand dollars to pay the expenses of negroes to ride about the South on the different railroads.

We have been taxed to pay one million five hundred thousand dollars for food for negroes and Bureau agents in the South.

We have been taxed twenty-five thousand dollars to pay school teachers for teaching negro children in the South.

These are a few among the many things we have been taxed for, under the Radical reconstruction policy in the South.

When forty-two millions more are added as the military expenses attendant upon that policy, the people may begin to understand why they are crowded for money, and why taxes are oppressive.

HOW TO CONVERSE.—Among all the "accomplishments" which our young ladies are expected to acquire, it is to be regretted that the art of conversation is not included. No grace of person or maners can compensate for a lack of this. In youth the conversation of women is too apt to be trifling and insipid, and in middle age it is too often confined to complaints of health and the scandal of the day. Lively conversation upon instructing and elevating topics is but little practiced; but when it is found it gives a charm to the society of females which nothing else can. It triumphs over deformity and old age, and makes ugliness itself agreeable. Curran, speaking of Madame de Stael, who was by no means handsome, but a splendid conversationalist, said that she "had the power of talking herself into a beauty." Ladies should think of this. The faculty of language is one of the most wonderful and potent for good or evil of the powers with which we are endowed—hence the importance of sedulously cultivating it.

WITHIN the past year no less than eight thousand seven hundred and sixteen patents for useful inventions and designs, were issued from the patent office at Washington. Truly we are an inventive people.

WHEN Haddock's wife kicked him out of bed, said he, "Look here, now! you had better not do that again; if you do it will cause a coldness in this family."

CORRESPONDENCE.

ADDI-ON, Pa., Feb. 24, 1868.

DEAR MEYERS:—I was standing at my desk, a day or two since, writing an article of some importance, (at least to me,) when Squire William entered and told me he had seen and conversed with my friend Meyers, of the BEDFORD GAZETTE.

The train of thought was broken. The thick-coming fancies were all dispelled, and memory immediately was busied with the buried past, buried more effectually to me than others, as there is now scarcely an interest, or a link, to connect me with it. But "let the dead past bury its dead;" your place is emphatically with the living present. You have a post in the Grand Army of Regeneration, and this is no time for "gentle dalliance in a lady's chamber," or for the lascivious pleasings of the lute. The hour demands vigorous workers as well as thinkers, when power is in the hands of men, without moral or legal restraint, bitterly hostile to everything that our fathers loved, who are breaking down every social barrier between the proud race to whom this country belongs, whose sacred birth-right it is, and who cannot sell it for a price without incurring an eternity of infamy, and the degraded race who have borne and will bear, the badge of inferiority and servitude, despite the mad efforts of the misguided men, who now control the Nation's destinies, and who will live in History as men recreant to God, to Country and Humanity.

Then the people are at length awakened, the cry of "Rights or Revolution," is swelling on the prairies of the West, and from thence, for some time to come, will the men be taken, who as the representatives of ideas originating and sustained there, will sway this Nation for good or evil. Let us pray the former.

That cry is a deeply significant and suggestive one, and woe to him who heeds it not. Temporary political damnation, which politicians appear to dread more than any, or all the denunciations in Holy Writ, is the least of the evils that will afflict them.

There is truth in the old adage, that the gods make mad, whom they intend to destroy, as is abundantly proved by the declaration of a Radical Senator that Congress would soon control the Ballot Box in all the States. Control the States, indeed! Why, you can hear the slogan sounding now, that shall be the coronach of the "God and morality," "loil," nigger-loving crew who strut and swelter in the capitol, clothed in corruption, reeking with innocent blood, and drunken with the wine of abomination. Before the specified five years of the "loil" Senator, the whole crew will have been scourged from the Capitol and will have called upon rocks and mountains to hide them from the scorn and indignation of an outraged people. May God in his goodness avert the storm of bloodshed and ruin, the fearful retribution, into which these men are so madly goading a long suffering people.

The old Know-Nothing leaders, in disguise, fresh from persecuting and murdering one class of our citizens, have abandoned their old incendiary cry, the gathering cry of the Church-burners, "America for Americans," and are now shouting another, equally as specious, as damnable—"America for the Africans." Oh, worse than foolish! The specious cries, "Rebellion," "Treason," "Loilty," will no longer avail you. The brass on Grant's coat, in Stanton's cheek, cannot save you.—The worn out twaddle of the last seven years, is impotent for political effect and stripped of your false colors of patriotism and humanity, you will be turned out to meet the scorn of all good men, and the revilings, may hap the torturing, of the bad. For your servile tools who have hunted to the death so many true men, who burned and mobbed, and exulted in the devil's work you set for them, will burn and rend you, as the dogs did Jezebel and will employ the lessons you taught them, for your own destruction, notwithstanding, "that the colored troops fought nobly."

If the foregoing, suits you, Messrs. Editors, it is entirely at your service, and you will again hear from me, if you see fit to "print" it.

Very truly, &c., ZINGARO.

MESSAGE OF THE PRESIDENT.

His Reasons for the Removal of Mr. Stanton---Able Argument and Defense.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The President to-day sent to the Senate the following message. It was read in secret session, laid on the table and ordered to be printed. The Senate removed the injunction of secrecy:

To the Senate of the United States:—I have received a copy of the resolution adopted by the Senate on the 21st instant, as follows:

"Whereas the Senate have received and considered the communication of the President stating that he had removed Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary of War, and had designated the Adjutant General of the Army to act as Secretary of War ad interim: therefore

"Resolved by the Senate of the United States, That under the constitution and laws of the United States the President has no power to remove the Secretary of War and designate any other officer to perform the duties of that office ad interim."

This resolution is confined to the power of the President to remove the Secretary of War and to designate another officer to perform the duties of the office ad interim, and by its preamble is made expressly applicable to the removal of Mr. Stanton, and the designation to act ad interim of the Adjutant General of the army.—Without, therefore, attempting to discuss the general power of removal as to all officers, upon which subject no expression of opinion is contained in the resolution, I shall confine myself to the question as thus limited—the power to remove the Secretary of War.

It is declared in the resolution "that under the constitution and laws of the United States the President has no power to remove the Secretary of War and designate any other officer to perform the duties of that office ad interim." As to the question of power under the constitution I do not propose at present to enter upon its discussion. The uniform practice from the beginning of the government, as established by every President who has exercised the office, and the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States, have settled the question in favor of the power of the President to remove all officers excepting a class holding appointments of a judicial character.—No practice, or any decision, has excepted a Secretary of War from this general power of the President to make removals from office. It is only necessary, then, that I should refer to the power of the Executive under the laws of the United States, to remove from office a Secretary of War. The resolution denies that under these laws this power has any existence. In other words, it affirms that no such authority is recognized or given by the statutes of the country.—What, then, are the laws of the United States which deny the President the power to remove that officer? I know but two laws which bear upon this question. The first in order of time is the act of August 7th, 1789, creating the Department of War, which, after providing for a Secretary as its principal officer, proceeds as follows:

"Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That there shall be in the said department an inferior officer, to be appointed by the said principal officer, to be employed therein as he shall deem proper, to be called the chief clerk in the Department of War, and who, whenever the said principal officer shall be removed from office by the President of the United States, or in any other case of vacancy, shall, during such vacancy, have the charge and custody of all records, books and papers appertaining to the said department."

It is clear that this act, passed by a Congress many of whose members participated in the formation of the constitution, so far from denying the power of the President to remove the Secretary of War, recognizes it as existing in the Executive alone, without the concurrence of the Senate or of any other department of the government. Furthermore, this act does not purport to confer the power by legislative authority, nor in fact was there any other existing legislation through which it was brought upon the Executive.

The recognition of the power by this act is therefore complete as a recognition under the constitution itself, for there was no other source or authority from which it could be derived. The other act which refers to this question is that regulating the tenure of certain civil officers, passed by Congress on the second day of March, 1867. The first section of that act is in the following words: "That every person holding any civil office to which he has been appointed by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and every person who shall hereafter be appointed to any such office, and shall become qualified to act therein, is and shall be entitled to hold such office until a successor shall have been in like manner appointed and duly qualified, except as herein otherwise provided.—Provided that the Secretaries of State, of the Treasury, of War, of the Navy, and of the Interior, the Postmaster General and the Attorney General, shall hold their offices, respectively, for and during the term of the President by whom they may have been appointed, and for one month thereafter, subject to removal by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

The fourth section of the same act restricts the term of offices to the limit prescribed by the law creating them. That part of the first section which precedes the proviso declares that every person holding a civil office to which he has been or may be appointed, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall hold such office until a successor shall have been in like manner appointed. It purports to take from the Executive, during the fixed time established for the tenure of the office, the independent power of removal, and to require for such removal the concurrent action of the President and the Senate.—The proviso that follows proceeds to fix the term of office of seven heads of departments whose tenure never had been defined before, by prescribing that they "shall hold their offices, respectively, for and during the term of the President by whom they may have been appointed, and for one month thereafter, subject to removal by and with the advice and consent of the Senate."

Thus, as to these enumerated officers, the proviso takes from the President the power of removal except with the advice and consent of the Senate. By its terms, before he can be deprived of the power to displace them, it must appear that he himself has appointed them. It is only in that case that they have any tenure of office or any independent right to hold during the term of the President, and for one month after the cessation of his official functions.

The proviso, therefore, gives no tenure of office, to any one of these officers who has been appointed by a former President beyond one month after the accession of his successor.

In the case of Mr. Stanton the only appointment under which he held the office of Secretary of War was that conferred upon him by my immediate predecessor, with the advice and consent of the Senate. He has never held from me any appointment as the head of the War Department. Whatever right he had to hold the office was derived from that original appointment and my own sufferance.

The law was not intended to protect such an incumbent of the War Department by taking from the President the power to remove him. This, in my judgment, is perfectly clear, and the law itself admits of no other just construction. We find in all that portion of the first section which precedes the proviso that as to civil officers generally, the president is deprived of the power of removal; and it is plain that if there had been no proviso, that power would just as clearly have been taken from him, so far as it applies to the seven heads of the departments, but for reasons which were no doubt satisfactory to Congress, these principal officers were specially provided for, and as to them the express and only requirement is that the president who has appointed them shall not, without the advice and consent of the Senate, remove them from office. The consequence is that as to my cabinet, embracing the seven officers designated in the first section, the act takes from me the power, without the concurrence of the Senate, to remove any one of them that I have appointed, but does not protect such of them as I did not appoint, nor give to them any tenure of office beyond my pleasure.

An examination of this act then, shows that while in one part of the section provision is made for officers generally, in another clause there is a class of officers designated by their official titles, who are excepted by the general terms of the law, and in reference to whom a clear distinction is made as to the general power of removal limited in the first clause of the section. This distinction is that as to such of these enumerated officers as hold under the appointment of the President, the power of removal can only be exercised by him with the consent of the Senate, while as to those who have not been appointed by him there is no like denial of his power to displace them. It would be a violation of the plain meaning of this enactment to place Mr. Stanton upon the same footing as those heads of departments who have been appointed by myself. As to him, this law gives him no tenure of office.

The members of my cabinet, who have been appointed by me, are by this act entitled to hold for one month after the term of my office shall cease; but Mr. Stanton could not, against the wishes of my successor, hold a moment thereafter. If he were permitted by that successor to hold for the first two weeks, would that successor have no power to remove him? But the power of my successor over him could be no greater than my own. If my successor would have the power to remove Mr. Stanton after permitting him to remain a period of two weeks, because he was not appointed by him, but by his predecessor, I, who have tolerated Mr. Stanton for more than two years, certainly have the same right to remove him, and upon the same ground, namely, that he was not appointed by me, but by my predecessor.

Under this construction of the tenure-of-office act, I have never doubted my power to remove Mr. Stanton.—Whether the act was constitutional or not, it was always my opinion that it did not secure him from removal. I was, however, aware that there were doubts as to the construction of the law, and from the first I deemed it desirable that at the earliest possible moment those doubts should be settled, and the true construction of the act fixed by the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States. My order of suspension, in August last, was intended to place the case in such a position as would make a resort to a judicial decision both necessary and proper. My understanding and wishes, however, under that order of suspension, were frustrated, and the last order for Mr. Stanton's removal was a further step towards the accomplishment of that purpose.

I repeat that my own convictions as to the true construction of the law, and as to its constiutionality, were well settled and were sustained by every member of my cabinet, including Mr. Stanton himself. Upon ths question of constitutionality each one in turn deliberately advised me that the tenure-of-office act was unconstitutional. Upon the question whether, as to those members who were apppointed by my predecessor, that act took from me the power to remove them, one of those members emphatically stated in the presence of the others sitting in cabinet, thet they did not come within the provisions of the act, and it was no protection to them; no one dissented from this construction, and I understood them all to acquiesce in its correctness.

In a matter of such grave consequence I was not disposed to rest upon my own opinions though fortified by my constitutional advisers. I have therefore sought to bring the question at as early a day as possible before the Supreme Court of the United States for final and authoritative decision. In respect to so much of the resolution as relates to the designation of an officer to act as Secretary of War ad interim, I have only to say that I have exercised this power under the provisions of the first section of the act of February 13, 1795, which, so far as they are applicable to vacancies caused by removals, I understand to be still in force. The legislation upon the subject of ad interim appointments in the executive departments stands as to the War Office as follows:

The second section of the act of the 7th of August, 1789, makes provision for a vacancy in the very case of a removal of the head of the War Department, and upon such a vacancy gives the charge and custody of the records, books and papers to the chief clerk.—Next, by the act of the 8th of May, 1792, section 8, it is provided that in case of vacancy occasioned by death, absence from the seat of government, or sickness of the head of the War Department, the President may authorize a person to perform the duties of the office until a successor is appointed or the disability removed.

The act, it will be observed, does not provide for the case of a vacancy caused by the removal. Then by the first section of the act of February 13th, 1795, it is provided that in the case of any vacancy the president may appoint a person to perform the duties while the vacancy exists. These acts are followed by that of the 20th February, 1863, by the first section of which provision is again made for vacancy caused by death, resignation, absence from the seat of government, or sickness of the head of any executive department of the government; and upon the occurrence of such a vacancy, power is given to the President to authorize the head of any other executive department, or other officer in either of said departments whose appointment is vested in the President, at his discretion, to perform the duties of the said respective offices until a successor be appointed, or until such absence of inability by sickness shall cease; provided that no one vacancy shall be supplied in the manner aforesaid for a longer term than six months.

This law, with some modifications, re-enacts the acts of 1792, and provides as did that act, for the sort of vacancies so to be filled, but, like the act of 1792, it makes no provision for a vacancy occasioned by removal. It has reference altogether to vacancies arising from other causes. According to my construction of the act of 1863, while it impliedly repeals the act of 1792, regulating the vacancies therein described, it has no bearing whatever upon so much of the act of 1795, as applies to a vacancy caused by the removal. The act of 1795, therefore, furnishes the rule for a vacancy occasioned by removal—one of the vacancies expressly referred to in the act of the 7th of August, 1789, creating the department of war.

Certainly there is no express repeal by the act of 1863 of the act of 1795. The repeal, if there is any, is by implication, and can only be admitted so far as there is a clear inconsistency between the acts. The act of 1795 is inconsistent with that of 1863 as to a vacancy occasioned by death, registration, absence or sickness; but not at all inconsistent as to a vacancy caused by removal.

It is assuredly proper that the President should have the same power to fill temporarily a vacancy occasioned by removal as he has to supply a place made vacant by death or expiration of term. If, for instance, the incumbent of an office should be found to be wholly unfit to exercise its functions, and the public service should require his immediate expulsion, a remedy should exist and be at once applied and time be allowed the President to select and appoint a successor, as is permitted him in case of a vacancy caused by death or the termination of an official term.

The necessity, therefore, for an ad interim appointment is just as great, and, indeed, may be greater, in case of removal than in any others. Before it be held, therefore, that the power given by the act of 1795 in cases of removal is abrogated by succeeding legislation, an express repeal ought to appear. So wholesome a power should certainly not be taken away by loose implication. It may be, however, that in this, as in other cases of implied repeal, doubts may rise. It is confessedly one of the most subtle and debatable questions which arise in the construction of statutes.

If upon such a question I have fallen into an erroneous construction, I submit whether it should be characterized as a violation of official duty and of law. I have deemed it proper, in vindication of the course which I have considered it my duty to take, to place before the Senate the reasons upon which I have based my action.

Although I have been advised by every member of my cabinet that the entire tenure-of-office bill act is unconstitutional and therefore void, and although I have expressly concurred in that opinion in the veto message which I had the honor to submit to Congress when I returned the bill for re-consideration, I have refrained from making a removal of any officer contrary to the provisions of the law, and have only exercised that power in the case of Mr. Stanton, which, in my judgment, did not come within its provisions. I have endeavored to proceed with the greatest circumspection, and have acted only in an extreme and exceptional case, carefully following the course which I have marked out for myself, as a general rule, faithfully to execute all laws, though passed over my objections, on the score of constitutionality. In the present instance I have appealed, or sought to appeal, to that final arbiter fixed by the constitution for the determination of all such questions. To this course I have been impelled by the solemn obligations which rest upon me to sustain inviolate the powers of the high office committed to my hands. Whatever may be the consequences, merely personal to myself, I could not allow them to prevail against a public duty so clear to my own mind and so imperative. If what was possible had been certain; if I had been fully advised when I removed Mr. Stanton that in thus defending the trust committed to my hands my own removal was sure to follow, I could not have hesitated, actuated by public considerations of the highest character. I earnestly protest against the resolution of the Senate, which charges me in what I have done with a violation of the constitution and laws of the United States.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

Washington, D. C., February 22, 1868.

WHAT WE ARE TAXED FOR.—We have been taxed half a million of dollars, says the Detroit Free Press, within the last year, to build school houses for the Negroes in the South.

We have been taxed two millions one hundred and fifty-seven thousand dollars to organize the negroes of the South into loyal leagues and get them to the polls to vote for revolutionary conventions in the South.

We have been taxed eight hundred thousand dollars to pay the expenses of negroes to ride about the South on the different railroads.

We have been taxed to pay one million five hundred thousand dollars for food for negroes and Bureau agents in the South.

We have been taxed twenty-five thousand dollars to pay school teachers for teaching negro children in the South.

These are a few among the many things we have been taxed for, under the Radical reconstruction policy in the South.

When forty-two millions more are added as the military expenses attendant upon that policy, the people may begin to understand why they are crowded for money, and why taxes are oppressive.

HOW TO CONVERSE.—Among all the "accomplishments" which our young ladies are expected to acquire, it is to be regretted that the art of conversation is not included. No grace of person or maners can compensate for a lack of this. In youth the conversation of women is too apt to be trifling and insipid, and in middle age it is too often confined to complaints of health and the scandal of the day. Lively conversation upon instructing and elevating topics is but little practiced; but when it is found it gives a charm to the society of females which nothing else can. It triumphs over deformity and old age, and makes ugliness itself agreeable. Curran, speaking of Madame de Stael, who was by no means handsome, but a splendid conversationalist, said that she "had the power of talking herself into a beauty." Ladies should think of this. The faculty of language is one of the most wonderful and potent for good or evil of the powers with which we are endowed—hence the importance of sedulously cultivating it.

WITHIN the past year no less than eight thousand seven hundred and sixteen patents for useful inventions and designs, were issued from the patent office at Washington. Truly we are an inventive people.

WHEN Haddock's wife kicked him out of bed, said he, "Look here, now! you had better not do that again; if you do it will cause a coldness in this family."

THE KEY-NOTE.

JUDGE WOODWARD sounded the key-note to the tone of popular feeling, when he said in Congress, the other day, that if he were a member of the President's cabinet, he would advise him to demur to the authority of the Rump Senate to try him, and treat the whole impeachment scheme as a nullity. The Constitution provides that Congress shall be composed of members and Senators from all the States. But ten States are deprived by Congress of all representation in its councils. Is such a body a legal Congress? It is, by the sufference of the people. But when such a body undertakes to override the co ordinate branches of the Government, the people have good cause to withdraw their sufferance and to declare the usurpations of the fragmentary Congress illegal and invalid. Let the President, therefore, protest against the assumed right of the Rump Senate to try him, and thus fortify himself for an appeal to the people, in case a partizan two-thirds of that body unjustly convict him. Andrew Johnson should make up his mind, if he has not done so already, not to leave the White House, alive, under any circumstances, until the fourth of March, 1869. Let him resist the Radical revolutionists even unto death, and, if he will but call upon the people to sustain him, they will do it with their property, their blood and their lives. Oh! Andrew Johnson, be not deceived! You must fight, if you would maintain your rights! You must FIGHT, if you would preserve the Constitution! You must FIGHT, if you would secure the people in their liberties! Hearken not unto the men who advise you to trust to the packed jury, the Rump Senate. Two-thirds of that infamous body, have already expressed themselves in favor of your removal. They are a tribunal organized to convict! Trust not them, but trust the people! Issue your proclamation setting forth the nature of the conspiracy formed to depose the Executive and to overthrow the Constitution, and rather than permit that conspiracy to succeed, arrest the conspirators and call upon the people to settle the troubles of the country by the election of a new Congress. In a word, rather than give up the Constitution, let us have a chance to fight for the preservation of that sacred instrument!

THE Shugert contested election case, in the State Senate, has not yet been concluded. The Phillipsburg "imported vote," "fraudulent naturalization papers," &c., about which John Cessna and other old grannies of the Radical persuasion, have been making such great ade, amount to just this: the imported and fraudulent votes were principally cast for Robison, the Radical opponent of Mr. Shugert. The Bellefonte Watchman, speaking of the principal witnesses for Robison, says:

"Of the three principal witnesses had to testify in the Shugert-Patterson election case, one of them, a dozen of men from this place will swear they would not believe on his oath under any circumstances; another was kept out of the Western Penitentiary for forgery, by his father swearing that he was crazy, and the other was saved imprisonment for embezzling money belonging to the Pennsylvania railroad company, by a Democrat paying up his defalcations, and trusting him for the amount."

It is by the oaths of such fellows that the immaculate Cessna expects to oust Mr Shugert. No wonder he and Geary make such a noise about "fraud", "murder," &c., in connection with this case. They want to raise a smoke under cover of which they may conceal their own tracks. Of course, Shugert will be ousted. The necessities of the Radical party demand that he shall be ousted, and this fact is argument enough with the committee. Nobody expects justice at their hands.

THE President has the power under the Constitution, to strike Gen. Grant, or any other military subordinate of his from the rolls. He can do this without even asking for a court-martial of the offending under-strapper. If the conspiracy to depose Mr. Johnson continues, he should make a clean sweep of the brass-buttoned gentry who have planted their feet upon the necks of the people. Grant, especially, deserves punishment for disobedience of the orders of his commander-in-chief. He has been clearly guilty of insubordination and "conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman."

THE Democratic State Convention for the election of delegates to the National Convention and the nomination of a State and Electoral Ticket, meets at Harrisburg to-day (Wednesday). We have no doubt that it will do its work well.

DISCHARGE OF GEN. THOMAS.

JUDGE CARTTER, of the District of Columbia Criminal Court, one of the tools and lick-spittles of the Rump Congress, after holding Gen. Thomas to $5,000 bail, has discharged him unconditionally without examination! The reason of this action of Judge Cartter, is found in the fact that if he had committed Gen. Thomas for violation of the Tenure of office bill, the latter would have applied for a writ of habeas corpus, which would have at once brought up the question of the constitutionality of that act before the Supreme Court of the United States. As Judge Cartter justly feared that the Supreme Court would decide that act unconstitutional and thus knock the bottom out of impeachment, he made haste to release Gen. Thomas without examination, notwithstanding the oath made before him by Edwin M. Stanton that Gen. Thomas had violated a law of Congress. What a Judge! and what justice!

VANDERBILT VAMOSES.

CORNELIUS VANDERBILT, one of the New York nabobs who recently brought out Gen. Grant as a candidate for President, has "vamosed the ranche" Ulysses, and declares he cannot support Grant since his duplicity and deception in regard to the War office. Grant's dishonorable conduct has turned the stomach of more than one man, who, like Vanderbilt, once thought of supporting him. Had Grant fulfilled his understanding with the President, Stanton would have been compelled to resort to the Courts, and the present troubles would have been averted from the country. But this weak-minded military trickster feared that if he held on to the War Department, or resigned so that the President might appoint some one in his place, as he had agreed to do, he might lose the Radical nomination for the Presidency, and, therefore, deliberately broke his word and threw the doors of the War Department open to Stanton. No wonder decent men are disgusted with him!

The spirit of '61 seems again to pervade the Keystone State. Volunteers are hourly tendering their services to support the laws. Let Congress stand firm. JOHN W. GEARY.

The above is a copy of a telegram sent by Gov. Geary to Simon Cameron, one day last week. This Jackass of a Governor was, with difficulty, persuaded by his party friends out of a determination he had formed to call out 50,000 militia to support Congress! What business has he to jump in between the President and Congress, to decide the conflict between them!—Nay, what right has he to commit the people of Pennsylvania to open, armed rebellion against the Constitutional and right ful Executive of the United States? The men who would muster under such a call as Geary proposed to issue, are rebels and traitors, and the man who intended to issue the call would be a traitor, if he were not a fool. As to the "Spirit of '61," we know that it "pervades the Keystone State." Our people were taught in '61 that the "President is the Government" and that rebellion against his authority must be put down. Hence, it is no wonder "volunteers are hourly tendering their services to support the laws." But the volunteers are not tendering their services to Hans Geary. Ne'er a volunteer. They don't want a jackass to lead them.

MISCEGENATION.

Jenner township, Somerset county, polls about 300 Radical, to 50 Democratic, votes, usually giving about 250 Radical majority. In this hot-bed of fanaticism, the doctrine of miscegenation has taken deep root. Some time since the daughter of a prominent citizen of that township, eloped with a negro, and now we learn from the Somerset Democrat, that "Solomon Boyer (white) was married, the other day, to widow McKelvery, (colored) and David Deetz (colored) to Polly Thomas (white)." Such are the natural consequences of the teachings of Radicalism. Can it be possible that the people of this country, with such evidence of the tendencies of Radicalism before their eyes, will still continue to give countenance and support to a thing so vile and monstrous?

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

We call attention to the very able message of the President of the United States, printed on our outside, giving his reason for his removal of Stanton. No reasonable man can read it without being convinced that the President has done right. And yet, for attempting to exercise the right to select his own cabinet adviser, the President has been impeached! The thing is too ridiculous to challenge discussion. As "Republicans" will not be likely to see this message in their own papers, we suggest to our subscribers, that after they shall have read it, they hand it to their "Republican" neighbors.—Let your light shine!

GRANT FOR THE NIGGER!

Gen. Hancock, some time since, removed some of the aldermen and other city officers of New Orleans. He did so, because he declared that their conduct was so bad that they could not be tolerated. Nine of these officers were removed. Seven of them were Negroes. The other day Grant igsued an order commanding Hancock to restore these officers to the places fromwhich he had removed them! How do you like that, white soldiers? U. S. Grant has become the servile tool of the Negro Suffrage fanatics in Congress. He appoints Negroes to office, by his own order. Rich, isn't it?

TURN OUT!

The Spring Elections will be held on FRIDAY, MARCH 20th. Let every Democrat make it a point to go to the polls. "A stitch in time saves nine." "An ounce of preventive is worth a pound of cure." Rebuke the conspirators in Congress! Let the people rebuke them NOW, and thus check the impending revolution.

THE New Hampshire election comes off on the 10th inst. Both parties are straining every nerve to carry the State. The Radicals are said to be importing voters from Massachusetts and Vermont, and using money profusely. The Democrats must gain 3,100 votes over the last election, to elect their candidates. This is a larger porportionate gain than New York state gave last fall, as the whole vote of New Hampshire is but about 75,000. We have no doubt, however, that the Democrats will gain largely, but can hardly hope that the Radical majority will be entirely overcome.

STANTON, THE LEECH!

The leech, Stanton, still sticks to the walls of the War Department. He fears to go outside of its walls for a moment, lest he might find Thomas in possession on his return. He eats, drinks, sleeps, &c., in his room in the Department. We should think that hole needs ventilation. This blood-sucker, it appears, can't be shaken off the teat of Uncle Sam's cow. He wants milk, blood and all. Sumner knew his character, or he would not have told him to "stick."

STANTON SUED FOR DAMAGES.

Gen. Thomas has sued Stanton for false imprisonment, and lays his damages at $150,000. The "Carnot of the war," may yet find use for some of his ill-gotten salary. Some of the blood which this leech daily sucks from the hearts of the people, may yet be squeezed out of him.

WE erred, last week, in stating that the President had appointed Gen. Thomas Ewing, permanent Secretary of War. He has appointed Hon. Thomas Ewing, of Ohio, the General's father, to that responsible position. Mr. Ewing was a member of both Gen. Harrison's and Gen. Taylor's cabinets. He is an old line Whig, in favor of the Constitution and the White Man.

THE Spring election promises to be a hotly contested one. Make arrangements to get every Democratic voter to the polls. The election will be held on Friday, March 20th.

—An organization is in progress at St. Louis to be composed of Democratic ex-officers and soldiers of the Federal army, the object of the organization being to counteract as much as possible the influence of the Grand army of the Republic.

DOWN WITH THE IMPEACHERS!

Great Meeting to Protest Against the Revolutionary Action of the Rump Congress.

THE PRESIDENT CALLED UPON TO TO MAINTAIN HIS POSITION AT ALL HAZARDS!

On Monday evening last, the largest impromptu meeting ever held in Bedford, assembled at the Court House to protest against the revolutionary and outrageous conduct of the Rump Congress in impeaching and striving to remove President Johnson. JOHN FULTON, ESQ., of Saxton was appointed President; with Michael Reed, Esq., John A. Mowry, John Yont, Henry W. Reed, Wm. Bowles, Henry P. Diehl, James Corboy, Sr., Geo W. Cessna, James Sill, John Feaster, Jacob Bolinger and Michael Wyant, as Vice Presidents; and Daniel L. Defibaugh, Wm. Fyan and Thos. Jamison, as Secretaries.

On motion of E. F. Kerr, Esq., a committee of five was appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting. The Chair appointed the following named gentlemen: John P. Reed, Esq., John B. Fluke, Esq., J. T. Gephart, Peter M. Barton, and Josiah Ritchey, with E F. Kerr, Esq., as Chairman.

The meeting was then addressed by O. E. Shannon, B. F. Meyers, and W. G. Smith, Esqs., in speches strongly condemnatory of the course of the Radicals in Congress and appealing to the people to stand by the President. Whilst it was not claimed that Andrew Johnson is a Democratic President, or that the Democratic party is any way responsible for his action, but that it is the duty of every good citizen to support the President in his struggle with the Revolutionists.

E. F. Kerr, Esq., Chairman of the Committee on resolutions, then reported the following which were unanimously adopted, after which the meeting adjourned with three times three for the Constitution and the Union:

Resolved, That we behold with a mazement and horror the rash and desperate attempts of the Radicals in Congress, to override the Constitution and plunge the country into anarchy and civil war, and can ascribe their conduct to nothing else than the impulses of partizan hate and fanatical madness.

Resolved, That the most shameless farce that ever was enacted in the annals of politics, the most diabolical effrontery that ever was exhibited in the history of human governments, the most cowardly scheme to shackle the popular will that ever was concocted in a free country, the most malicious, devilish and damnable usurpation that ever was attempted by ambitious villainy, is the cause es indecent and partizan impeachment of the faithful, patriotic and Constitution-loving President of the United States, by a band of malignants, who, by their own confession have violated the Constitution, who, following in the footsteps of George the Third, of England, have set the military above the civil power, who for three years have kept ten States out of the Union at the point of the bayonet, and who deserve, not to be impeached, but to be scourged from their dishonored seats in Congress as the money-changers were driven from the temple.

Resolved, That the Rump House and the Rump Senate enact laws only by the sufferance of the people, that ten States are excluded by the action of those fragmentary bodies from representation therein as guaranteed them by the Constitution, and therefore, those bodies are not such a Congress as is contemplated by the fundamental law of the land, and hence not competent to impeach and try the President of the United States. The Rump Senate is a packed jury, which excludes one third of the jurors from the panel, a tribunal organized and resolved to convict, and, therefore, we demand of the Paesident that he shall no surrende the Executive office into the hands of this band of conspirators without first exhausting every meaus of resistance at his command. The Constitution and the Republic must be preserved at the hazard of life itself.

Resolved, That Governor Geary, by his offer of troops to dispose the constitutional Executive of the United States Government, has exhibited a treasonable purpose excusable only by that imbecility of mind which makes the purpose abortive, and we rejoice that the uncalled for effort of this excelency to hound on civil war, has provoked only the contempt and derision of the people.

HORSE-EATING.—M Geoffrey St. Hilaire and other disinguished hippophagists in France have written an affectionate letter to their horse-eating friends in England, offering congratulations upon the result of the new dietary movement in that country. These gentlemen claim that it is "absurd to lose, each month, throughout England, millions of pounds of a meat admitted-ly wholesome and nouishing, when at the same time throughout England there are millions of human beings who stand in need of meat." In Paris the number of shops for the sale of horse-flesh has increased to twenty-three, and the price per pound is considerably below that asked for beef.

—The Kentucky Democracy are presenting the name of Governor Stevenson, of Kentucky, for the Vice Presidency.

THE MISERABLE IMPEACHMENT FARCE AND ITS PROBABLE CONSEQUENCES.

[From the New York Herald.]

Already the imposing and overwhelming proceedings of the House of Representatives in the impeachment of Andrew Johnson are assuming the appearance of a solemn but ridiculous farce. Already upon the case against the accused it is apparent there can be no conviction by the Senate. What are the high crimes and misdemeanors upon which he is indicted—the overt acts which legally render him subject to removal from office? The removal of Mr. Stanton as Secretary of War and the appointment of General Lorenzo Thomas to the office. In this removal and in this appointment, it is charged, Mr. Johnson has flatly violated the Tenure of office law and defied the sovereign authority of Congress. But here these questions recur—is Mr. Stanton removed? and is Mr. Thomas filling his place in the War Office? No. Mr. Stanton still holds absolute possession of the department, and General Thomas, after making his demand for a surrender of the office, gracefully retires, leaving Stanton still master of the situation. Stanton sticks to his post; but Mr. Summer, in his hot haste in enjoining him to "stick," has spoiled the impeachment of Johnson.

In point of fact, however, Stanton is the man who ought to be impeached; for he is clearly guilty of the "high crimes and misdemeanors" of resisting the authority and disregarding the orders of his superior officer, and of returning and remaining in the War Office against the express commands of the President. What is the Government but that of a mere cabal or French directory if this or that subordinate official can flout and defy his superior because the subordinate is under the protection of the dominant party for the time in Congress? We say, in this view, that no conviction of the President can be secured in the Senate for his efforts to get rid of this obnoxious and intolerable subordinate, Stanton.

Twice before has the House of Representatives attempted the impeachment of Mr. Johnson upon "high crimes and misdemeanors," such as usurpations, briberies, corruptions, etc; but in both instances the attempt was a signal failure, first before the house itself, and, secondly, in the preliminary investigation by the Committee on Reconstruction. The same committee, by a party vote upon this third experiment, did make up a case, and the House, by a clean party division, has sustained and reported that in behalf "of all the people of the United States" the charges to be preferred will be made good before the Senate. The indictment, then, is this time a success; but the trial has yet to come. The Senate in this trial assumes the character and responsibilities of a court of justice. Party considerations, party annoyances and party prejudices must be cast aside, and the guilt or innocence of the accused must be determined by the law, the facts and the evidence. From this ordeal we undertake to say that there will be no conviction, but that the President will come off the victor from the field for lack of law, facts and evidence upon which to condemn him. What then? The next thing, then, in order will be the impeachment of this Radical party in Congress before the bar of the American people. Nor will there be any scanty budget of "high crimes and misdemeanors" in the general indictment against them. Their attempts to take away the constitutional powers of the Executive Department; their efforts to upset the Judicial Department or to reduce it to a mere party machine; their negro supremacy policy of Southern reconstruction; their financial follies, extravagances, spoliations and corruptions, will all be in the bill; and we shall probably have an inkling in the approaching New Hampshire election of what is to come in the autumnal Congressional elections.

THE WAY FOR A NATION TO GET RICH.—The gross annual production of the United States is $2,000,000,000; this includes everything. Out of that gross product of the industry the Government takes from the people $700,000,000—more than one-third of the whole gross product of their industry. The net profit of all this industry is estimated by Mr. Welles at two hundred millions. The Government then draws five hundred millions over and above the net profits of all the producing business of the country. In other words, the Government is every year confiscating your propperty, encroaching every day upon your capital. Every sun that rises, finds when it sets the people of the United States, as a people, poorer than they were when it rose. Is it any wonder people complain of hard times? And how are you to cure it without hurling out of power the wretches who have thus robbed the country?

—It appears that "impeachment" is becoming the order of the day. The West Virginia Legislature has taken measures to impeach Judge Hindman, of that State, charged with admitting attorneys from the Southern States to practice law without taking the "iron-clad" oath. The New York board of alderman have before them a resolution urging the Legislature to impeach Governor Fenton for "high crimes and misdemeanors," for not enforcing a law passed by the Legislature of that State.

—When one individual prosecutes another he always tries to bring in as much testimony against his enemy as possible. The Radical usurpers, however, in their prosecution against the President, find it absolutely necessary to bring in as little as possible, because the more they bring the worse their case will appear.

—From Mexico, via Havana, we learn that a rumor was current at Vera Cruz, that an attempt had been made by two Mexicans to assassinate President Juarez and rob the Treasury. It is also reported that the Mexican Treasury was buying up English and Spanish claims, but was ingoring American demands.

—An Alabama negro who was opposed to the Radical league and who used his influence to keep negroes from voting at the late so-called election, was killed last Monday night, about twenty miles from Montgomery, by a violent Radical.

—A goat belonging to Mr. Patterson met a sudden death yesterday, under peculiarly harrasing circumstances. It, with female curiosity, went into the distillery and drank more whisky than its skin could hold, and it died.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

FACTS.

That we have unequalled facilities for conducting business to the advantage both of ourselves and patrons, we submit the following TRUTHS—well known as such to the entire business community.

1st. We have abundant cash capital, therefore—
2d. We are enabled to Buy for Cash exclusively, consequently at the lowest possible prices, with the markets of the entire world to select from.
3d. In this particular WE HAVE ADVANTAGES shared by no other house in our business.
4th. We sell for cash exclusively—therefore at the lowest possible prices—having no losses incurred by selling on credit, to provide for.
5th We have a business experience of a quarter of a century, having been longer established than any house in our trade in Philadelphia.
6th. Our business is thoroughly systematized, the result of long experience, which has taught us what the wants of the public are, and how best to meet them.
7th. We employ the best talent in all departments, our garments are therefore unsurpassed in style, fit and workmanship.
8th. Our business is large and constantly increasing, enabling us to keep at all times the largest best assorted, and most complete stock of MENS, YOUTHS, and BOYS' CLOTHING in Philadelphia, to which large daily additions are made of fresh goods, replacing those sold.
9th. For reasons already enumerated we can, and do sell clothing in every respect superior—surpassed by none, equalled by few—at prices guaranteed in all cases lower than the the lowest elsewhere, or the sale cancelled and money refunded.
10th. If buyers should for any cause become dissatisfied after a purchase is made, if reported within a reasonable time, we pledge ourselves, by exchange, refunding of money, or otherwise, to give full satisfaction in every case, and request that all such may be reported to us for adjustment.

CARD.—Our stock of Fall and Winter Clothing is full and complete, and selling rapidly, but is as rapidly replenished each day with fresh and desirable styles of new goods, purchased recently, for cash, at great sacrifices, enabling us to sell at prices lower than have been known for years. Congratulating our patrons upon the decline of prices which enables us to offer superior garments at such low rates, we request the favor of a call.

ADDRESS TO THE NERVOUS AND DEBILITATED whose sufferings have been protracted from hideous causes, and whose cases require prompt treatment to render existence desirable. If you are suffering or have suffered from involuntary discharges, what effect does it produce upon your general health? Do you feel weak, debilitated, easily tired? Does a little extra exertion produce palpitation of the heart? Does your liver, or urinary organs, or your kidneys, frequently get out of order? Is your urine sometimes thick, milky, or flocky, or is it ropy on settling? Or does a thick scum rise to the top? Or is a sediment at the bottom after it has stood awhile? Do you have spells of short breathing or dyspepsia? Are your bowels constipated? Do you have spells of fainting or rushes of blood to the head? Is your memory impaired? Is your mind constantly dwelling upon this subject? Do you feel dull, listless, inspiring, tired of company, of life? Do you wish to be left alone, to get away from everybody? Does any little thing make you start or jump? Is your sleep broken or restless? Is the lustre of your eye as brilliant? The bloom on your cheek as bright? Do you enjoy yourself in society as well? Do you pursue your business with the same energy? Do you feel as much confidence in yourself? Are your spirits dull and flagging, given to fits or melancholy? If so, do not lay it to your liver or dyspepsia. Have you restless nights? Your back weak, your knees weak, and have but little appetite, and you attribute this to dyspepsia or liver-complaint?

Now, reader, self-abuse, venereal diseases badly cured, and sexual excesses, are all capable of producing a weakness of the generative organs. The organs of generation, when in perfect health, make the man. Did you ever think that those bold, defiant, energetic, persevering, successful business men are always those whose generative organs are in perfect health? You never hear such men complain of being melancholy, of nervousness, of palpitation of the heart. They are never afraid they cannot succeed in business; they don't become sad and discouraged; they are always polite and pleasant in the company of ladies, and look you and them right in the face—none of your downcast looks or any other meanness about them. It is not men those who keep the organs inflamed by running to excess. These will not only ruin their constitutions, but also they do business with or for.

How many are from badly-cured diseases, from the effects of self-abuse and excesses, have brought about that state of weakness in those organs that has reduced the general system so much as to induce almost every other disease—idiocy, lunacy, paralysis, spinal affections, suicide, and almost every other form of disease which humanity is heir to, and the real cause of the trouble scarcely ever suspected, and have doctored for all but the right one.

Diseases of these organs require the use of a diuretic. HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic, and is a certain cure for diseases of the Bladder, Kidneys, Gravel, Dropsy, Organic Weakness, Female Complaints, General Debility, and all diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating and no matter how long standing.

If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or Insanity may ensue. Our flesh and blood are supported from these sources, and the health and happiness, and that of Posterity, depends upon prompt use of a reliable remedy.

NOTICE TO DELINQUENTS.—We have placed our books and accounts in the hands of John P. Reed, Esq., of this place, for collection. All accounts for subscription for the year ending August 1, 1868, remaining unpaid, are included in the bills which Mr. Reed is authorized to collect. We have been compelled to resort to this course in order to obtain a settlement of our accounts. We have too much to do to attend to making out bills, and we are tired of dunning. Money we must have, as we have many debts to pay, and we desire to act honestly with our creditors. Therefore, we ask all to pay Mr. Reed, who can, and those who cannot, we ask to call and settle. If there is any thing in their accounts by which they consider themselves aggrieved, let them call on us, and we will make all right that is not right. Friends, let us have the old scores wiped out, and begin anew.

RAILROAD MEETING.—In pursuance of a call published in the GAZETTE and Inquirer of last week, the people of Bedford county assembled in Mass Meeting in the Court House, on Monday afternoon, the 2nd inst.

On motion of J. R. Darborrow, the meeting was organized by placing the Hon. Alexander King, President Judge of the 16th Judicial District, in the chair and the appointment of Hon. George W. Gump, Hon. Wm. E. Eicholtz, Hon Job Mann and John Mower, Esq., as Vice Presidents, and John Lutz and John P. Reed, Esqs., Secretaries.

The following gentlemen were appointed a Committee on resolutions: Wm. M. Hall, J. W. Lingenfelter and G. H. Spang, Esqs. The chairman of the above committee read the following resolutions:

1. The people of Bedford County, in mass meeting assembled, hereby express their gratification at the decision of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, pronouncing the Act of Assembly repealing the charter of the Pittsburg and Connellsville Railroad unconstitutional and void, and hail with joy the prospect of the completion, at an early day, of a Grand Through Railroad from Pittsburg to Baltimore, which will pass within twenty miles of Bedford, and open up to commerce, mining and manufactures, the south-western portion of our county.

2. That whilst we regret the fact that the Southern Pennsylvania Railroad seems to have been a mere occupation of the ground, with a show of engineering and with no apparent intention of making a road, yet we do not agree with the views of John Edgar Thompson, President of Penna. Central Railroad, lately expressed in his report to the stockholders, that it is not practicable to make any great through railroad traversing Southern Pennsylvania, and we hope that Philadelphia enterprise and capital will ultimately build an independent Southern Pennsylvania through railroad.

3. That Bedford being thirty-nine miles nearer, via. Wills Creek to Baltimore than via. Huntingdon to Philadelphia, and sixty miles nearer, via. same route, to Pittsburg than via. Huntingdon, our natural railroad connection, as between these routes, is with the Connellsville road at Bridgeport, and we urge upon our citizens to be prepared to aid such an enterprise with their good will and money.

4. That the line from Bedford to Wills Creek being nearly straight, of easy grades, with no deep cuts or expensive bridges, the road can be made at such small expense as to be within the reach of accomplishment, by a united effort, as soon as the Connellsville road is put under contract.

5. That the Chair appoin a committee of ten citizens to procure the passage of an act of assembly chartering the Bedford and Bridgeport Railroad Company, and to take such steps as may be deemed wise, to inform the public of the advantages of this railroad connection, and to place the project in course of accomplishment.

6. That we approve the course of our members, J. T. Richards and John Weller, in favoring a fair Free Railroad Law, and that we endorse the House Bill as such, and request our Senator, Hon. Alex. Stutzman, to vote for said House Bill.

Pending the resolutions, speeches were made by Wm. M. Hall, Esq., Wm M. Hartley, Esq., and Hon. Judge King. The resolutions were unanimously adopted.

Subsequently Mr. Hartley offered several resolutions pertaining to the Southern Pennsylvania and Connellsville railroad which after some discussion were withdrawn.

The chair appointed the following Committee in accordance with the above resolution: Wm. M. Hall, Wm. Hartley, J. R. Durborrow, S. L. Russell, G. H. Spang, J. W. Dickerson, J. W. Lingenfelter, Job Mann, John Alsip, John Cessna.

On motion a Committee of three were appointed to visit Harrisburg and urge the passage of the House Free Railroad bill, consisting of Hon. John Cessna, B. F. Meyers and D. W. Washabaugh, Esqs.

On motion adjourned.

"EVERY SATURDAY."—This reprint of the most interesting selections from foreign literature is now in its fifth volume, and certainly has lost none of its freshness with age. The selections are varied and made with much care and taste, embracing the cream of British and Continental literature, 32 closely printed double column pages of which are given every Saturday at the moderate price of 10 cents a number, or $5.00 a year, by Ticknor & Fields, Boston.

The special attention of the Ladies is invited to Wm. T. Hopkins' Three Grades of Hoop Skirts—the "Keystone Skirt," "Union Skirt," and "Champion Skirt." Read advertisement in this issue.

NEWS FROM HOME!—The following dispatch appeared in all the daily papers of the 26th ult.:

BEDFORD, Pa., February 25.—There is great excitement at this place about the impeachment, and several companies are being rapidly organized to support the President.

Captain T. H. Lyons has already fifty men on his list, and at least three companies can be ready in forty-eight hours.

Captain Lyons is a gallant soldier who served in the Union Army during the greater part of the war, having commanded a company in the 55th, P. V., and also in the 22d Pa. Cavalry, some of the Reds, hereabouts were extremely wrothy about this dispatch, and denounced it as false. Should President Johnson find it necessary to call out men to sustain the constitution, they will find that there was "more truth than poetry" in it. They should remember that there are some things that are not "dreamt of in their philosophy."

TRUE PROPHET.—The ground-hog is a true prophet. He saw his shadow on Candlemass day, and retired into his burrow, with the traditional injunction to all his friends and admirers, to look out for squalls. Well, here we are, four weeks after his disappearance, with snow four inches in depth, and the feathery flakes still descending. And when we look forward in the hope of an early spring, we are reminded that it is only

"The stormy March has come at last."

Yes, the ground-hog is a true prophet. He beats Seward all hollow!

PITTSBURG FEMALE COLLEGE.—We take pleasure in commending this institution to public patronage. The buildings, one hundred and forty-eight feet in length, have been improved from year to year, until they are among the finest of their kind in the country. The ceilings are high, the halls and rooms neatly papered, and well lighted and ventilated, and every arrangement made for the comfort and convenience of the pupils. The Faculty embraces twenty-two teachers, chosen with special reference to their fitness for the positions they occupy, and most of whom have had from five to twenty-five years experience in their profession. Five of them are employed in the music department. French and German are taught by native teachers. There are also special teachers for all the other ornamental branches, such as drawing, Painting, Needlework, Wax Flowers, &c. Every part part of a thorough, solid and ornamental education is amply provided for. The boarding pupils are under the special care of the President and his wife, and their constant effort is to make the College a Christian Home for all committed to their tuition. We cordially commend the College to all our readers. The Spring Term will commence March 23d. Send to the President, Rev. I. C. Pershing, D. D, for a catalogue.

THE CONFEDERATE FLAG ON THE OCEAN.—Our readers all know that the pestilential doctrines of Mongrelism creep into nine-tenths of the reading matter issued from the public press.—We must have a pure literature, without a taint of the nigger about it, without the slightest milk-and-molasses hue, or the present generation of readers will become as debauched as the day. The Caucasian series of stories now being issued by Van Evrie, Horton & Co., of The New York Day-Book, are of the pure white man style, and the No. 1 which we have received, just off the press and ready for the public—The Confederate Flag on the Ocean—is a capital story, spirited, thrilling, strictly historical and patriotic. There is not a Democrat in the country who will not prize it highly as one of the most entertaining novelettes ever written. The series will be kept up.

MISS FANNY HALEY will give an entertainment, in the Court House, on Monday evening, March 8th, consisting of Select Readings and Recitations. Those wishing to enjoy a rare treat should attend by all means. Admittance 25 cents.

IN SESSION.—Adjourned Court, Judge Woods presiding, has been in session since Monday last. A number of important cases are down for trial, and it is thought that Court will last the greater part of the week.

GRADUATED.—The degree of Doctor of Medicine, has been conferred upon W. Shannon Hardman, of Buffalo Mills, this county, by the Bellevue Hospital Medical College of New York city. Success to Dr. Hardman.

"TIME may sear and bleach your brow," but it cannot silver your hair, if you use that excellent renewer known as "Barrett's Vegetable Hair Restorative," to the absolute exclusion of all the vile compounds with which the market is flooded.—Portsmouth Journal.

THE "new thing under the sun" of which Solomon doubted, is Phalon's "Flor De Mayo," that rare perfume for the handkerchief. It cannot be described, for there is nothing like it in the whole realm of fragrance. Sold by all druggists.

TOBACCO.—See advertisement, in another column, of E. Megraw & Co., tobacco manufacturers, Pittsburg, Pa. Our friend J. S. Berkstresser, is traveling agent for the above firm, and our merchants will do well to give him their orders.

HATS AND CAPS.—R. W. Berkstresser & co., have just received a large lot of new style hats and caps. Everybody buys 'em, because they are cheap and the most comfortable head-covering worn. Go and see them.

THE Rev. W. B. Craig, Providence permitting, will preach in the Presbyterian church in Bedford, on next Sunday at 11 o'clock, a m.

Telegrams to the President.

The President has received the following dispatches:

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 24..—Your friends in Indiana send you greeting assurances of support in your fight for the constitution.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 24.—Your friends here are moving. Remain firm. Be thou ruler even in the midst among thine enemies.

A. G. LLOYD, President, D. C.,
GEO H. KEYSER, Vice-Pres't. D. C.,
WM. MURRAY,
Of the National Union Com.
Allegheny county.

NEW LONDON, FEB. 24.—At a meeting of the democrats of New London, held this evening, the following resolution was adopted:

Whereas, in view of the present revolutionary attitude of Congres, acting, as its leaders confess, outside of the constitution of the United States and in view of the position of the President in resisting such action,

Resolved, That we, the democrats of the city of New London, pledge him our most hearty support in money, votes or men.

F. L. ALLEN, Chairman.
B. P. WATROUS, Secretary.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Every decent man in New York city is with you. We will take care of all Governor Geary's men. God bless you. We are ready for the issue.

POTTSVILLE, PA., Feb. 24.—Uphold vigorously the executive and judicial departments of the government against any cabal that attempts to destroy them, and the people will sustain you.

CHAS. D. HIPPLE,
Ch'm. Dem. Standing Com.,
Schuylkill county, Pa.

NEW BEDFORD, MASS., Feb. 24.—You will be sustained in executing the laws, under the constitution, in New England. Stand firm.

Numerous letters and telegraphic despatches of encouragement, and proffering aid in soldiers, &c., have come to the President to-day. From the despatches the following may be selected as specimens:

I can raise one thousand men to sustain you from my (second) district of New Jersey, if necessary.

You are right. The friends of constitutional liberty in New Hampshire will sustain you.

ANSON S. MARSHAL,
Chairman Democratic State Committee of New Hampshire.

From Maysville, Ky., the following:

Will one regiment of Irish be of any service to you? Answer.

From Columbus, Onio, the following:

An unusually large and enthusiastic meeting of the people of this city is now being held in the rotunda of the State-house. Resolutions have been passed pledging the support of the people hereabouts to the President in his struggle with reckless usurpation and assumption of despotic Congressional power, and avowing a determination to stand by him at whatever sacrifice, and to whatever extent may be necessary to enable him to overcome the foes of public peace and order in the so-called Congress of the United States.

JOHN G. THOMPSON,
W. D. RANKIN,
JNO. M. PUGH,
Committee.

OUTRAGES NEAR NORFOLK.—The negro freebooters of this section are having a perfect carnival in all the country around. A short while since we mentioned the midnight attack at Linkhorn bay, in which a whole white family were driven out of their beds, and the house robbed; and last Saturday we mentioned another midnight attack on Back river, by which Mr. Wm. Thomson was robbed of $300, one gold watch, and all his bed clothing. On Thursday night the residence of Mr. Nicholas, on Back river, was invaded by a band of armed negroes, and all his bacon, flour and meal carried off. Up to this time no arrests of any of the bold freebooters have been made, and the people all around the country are in great excitement at the insecurity of their lives and property. They do not know, when they lie down at night, at what moment an armed force of negroes may come in and plunder if not murder them.—Norfolk Day-Book.

NEW PRESS!—FANCY JOB PRINTING!—Printing in Colors!—Cards, Billheads, Notes, Bank-Checks, Blanks of all kinds, &c., &c.—We have just had set up in our office, one of the latest improved Gorden's Fast Job Presses, and have, also, purchased a new assortment of Fancy Job Type. Thus prepared, we are now able to do all kinds of Job Work, from the daintiest card to the most showy poster. These improvements have cost us considerable outlay, and we now say to our friends and the public, generally, bring on your work, if you appreciate enterprise! We can do any kind of work done in the city offices and just as cheap as city printers do it. Horse-bills print ed in all styles. Call at the GAZETTE office, and see our improvements;

ESTEY'S COTTAGE ORGANS are still ahead of all competitors and stand unrivalled in POWER, PURITY OF TONE and BRILLIANCY, and all other points which go to make a first-class instrument.
The "VOX HUMANA TREMOLO" is the greatest of all modern improvements on reed instruments. It CHARMS and SURPRISES all who hear it, by its wonderful resemblance to the HUMAN VOICE. Do not confound this with the common tremolo in use. It is entirely different, and far superior to any other.

☞ Send for descriptive circular and price list.
The effect of our "Tremolo" is entirely new to me, and is certainly the best I ever heard.—GEO. W. MORGAN. [The first Organist of America.
No Tremolo has yet been invented that will in any degree compare with this for beauty of effect. In fact, it seems to me to be absolutely perfect.—WM. A. JOHNSON, Pipe Organ Builder.
Estey's Cottage Organs are without a superior for exceedingly quick articulation and round tone—the essential features in instruments of this class.—GEO. JARDINE, Pipe Organ Builder.
The Cottage Organ is the best of its class I ever saw, and the best adapted for church music of any in use.—C. HEINTZ, Organist, Findlay, O.
I am much pleased with the Cottage Organ which I purchased from you; it combines sweetness and power in an unusual degree, and is quite a favorite in our family circle.—BISHOP SIMPSON.
We know no organs of the class which possess so many valuable qualities.—INDEPENDENT.
For the parlor, its sweetness is remarkable; for the church it has a power more organ-like than anything we have seen.—METHODIST.
Persons wishing to purchase an organ are requested to examine the Estey Instruments now in use at the Presbyterian and Episcopal Churches, Bedford, Pa. jul28,'67

PROMINENT CHARACTERISTICS.
I.—They are Instructive.
"As purely literary works, these historical romances possess a high degree of merit. They read like genuine histories.—Catholic World.
"They are correct descriptions of the countries and the people described."—Herald.
II.—They are Entertaining.
"We regard these books as among the best and most entertaining novels of the day."—Springfield Republican.
"The reader is at once fascinated and held spell-bound until the volume is completed."—Free Press.
"There is no dull chapter in it."—Utica Herald.
III.—They are mirrors of the Times.
"No one can pursue them without conceding the author's great skill in grasping and delineating the characters which figure conspicuously in them.
"The study which enables the author to delineate so accurately the emotions and incentives to action which moved men and women of a past age must be close and untiring, and Louisa Muhlbach shows in all of her works a perfection which carries the reader into the very presence of the characters represented."—Syracuse Journal.
IV.—They are Historically Correct.
"Historically correct, and as entertaining as many of the volumes of Sir Walter Scott."—Providence Herald.
"Louisa Muhlbach must have carefully and diligently studied the secret histories of the times and countries of which she writes, and her task is done well and effectively."—Worcester Spy.
"No Historical Novelist has labored so faithfully and successfully to reproduce a complete picture of past times and events."—Utica Herald.
V.—They are Original.
"It has agreeably surprised readers to find a new writer with such constructive genius and knowledge of character as Louisa Muhlbach possesses."—Public Ledger.
"Each succeeding novel adds to Mrs. Mundt's reputation as a writer of historic fiction."—N. Y. Times.
VI.—They are full of Imagination.
"She is not only the skilful joiner, but a neat-handed artizan."—Christian Witness.
"There is seldom any straining after effect, but it is really wonderful how Madame Mundt manages to sustain and increase the interest to the end."—City Item.
"The word-painting of the authoress is much more effective than the best efforts of the engraver."—Illinois State Register.
VII.—They Contain Anecdotes of Courts.
"Scottish history offered no fresher and more romantic material to the magic working hand of Sir Walter Scott than she finds in the annals of the German courts."—Evening Gazette.
"There are not to be found anywhere in human annals, unused, such magnificent, such superabundant materials for romance, as clog the chronicles of the Prussian and Austrian courts of the 18th century. By their dress, their manners, their modes of thought, their language, they are almost as much separated from us as if they had lived one thousand years ago."—Observer.
VIII—They tell about Emperors, Kings, and Queens.
"We learn from her not only how Frederick William and Frederick the Great, Joseph the Second, Voltaire, Rousseau, Baron Trenck, the Empress Catherine, walked and talked in their grand robes, but how they powdered their hair, flirted, and took tea.'—Register.
"The choice of her subjects exhibits her genius. She takes the time of Frederick the Great, Joseph the Second, for example, and upon the background of facts which the chronicles of the periods affords, she embroiders the bright and sombre colors, the light and shades of her fiction, with the skill of a consummate artist."—The Eagle.
IX.—The Style is Interesting.
"The style of this writer for purity, perspicuity, and elegance, is something greatly to be commended. It is free from imitations, mannerisms, and tricks of every kind."—The Argus.
"The translations do justice to the vivid, piquant style of the original; and the story is full of movement and crowded with instructive and entertaining incident."—The Chicago Post.
"The interest of the book does not depend upon its characters nor its incidents, nor yet on its charming style, but on its general harmony of composition."—Day Book.
X.—Everybody is Reading them.
"Our people seem to have stopped reading French novels, and English works are complained of as dull. Miss Muhlbach precisely supplies the public want.
"The novels of Clara Mundt are being read by every one."—Times.
"Muhlbach's novels have a world-wide reputation, and are read with avidity, as fast as issued from the press."—Springfield Republican.
"They are winning a wide and deserved popularity in this country."—State Journal.

MEDICAL.—DR. A. S. SMITH, having resumed the Practice of Medicine, solicits a generous share of the patronage of the community. Office in his residence, at St Clairsville.
He would call the attention of the public, and to those more immediately interested to the following: His health being too delicate to bear much of the fatigues and exposures consequent on general practice, he has adopted a speciality in the profession.
Soon after commencing practice, some twenty years since, he was attracted by the almost universality of female complaints, both in the married and single state. Partly from natural inclination, and in order to obtain success in practice, these complaints were made the subject of incessant study. These alterations, displacements and deranged functions of the organs peculiar to the female, are owing to that refined sense of delicacy on the part of the female, who, ignorant of the consequences, prefers to suffer in silence rather than expose her situation. Seldom cured by the general practitioner, who is prevented by this delicacy from acquiring by experience that tact and skill necessary to discriminate the exact change present, and contents himself with prescribing for the deranged functions, or overlooking the cause, simply for attendant nervous disorders, founding his prescriptions on a Plethoric Anaemonie state of the general system and the result is no benefit, as the number of the long suffering females bears ample testimony. Believing that he has, from long and special attention paid to them, acquired that skill in discriminating and experience in treating, he solicits the suffering to give him a call. No charges for consultation or examination. Visits made to all parts of the county.
Applications for medicines can be made in writing by accompanying stamp for return letter.—Medicines sent when desired. TERMS invariably cash for all medicines and instruments.

THE GREAT CAUSE OF HUMAN MISERY. Just Published, in a Sealed Envelope.—Price six cents.
A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment and Radical cure of SPERMATORRHŒA, or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits, resulting from self-Indulgence or Sexual extravagance, &c.—By ROB J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the "Green Book, &c.
The world-renowned author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of Self-Abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife—pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically. THIS LECTURE WILL PROVE A BOON TO THOUSANDS AND THOUSANDS.
Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, postpaid, on receipt of six cents, or two post stamps. Also, Dr. Culverwell's "Marriage Guide," price 25 cents. Address the publishers,

1867.—"THE WORLD."—1867.
The attention of the public is invited to the claims of "The World" as one of the leading public journals of the country. It is the chief organ of the Democratic Party of the United States, and the foremost advocate of the immediate restoration of the Union. Its highest merits consists in its character as an enterprising and trustworthy newspaper.
The next year bids fair to be a more critical one in the history of our free institutions than even any eventful ones that have preceded it. The first requisite for an intelligent judgment of public affairs is a full and authentic account of facts as they transpire. These THE WORLD always aims to give with conscientious accuracy, and with equal fullness and fidelity, whether they make for or against its own views of public policy. Prompt activity in spreading before its readers every kind of news in which any part of the public takes an interest, is the first duty of a newspaper, and the facilities of THE WORLD for discharging this obligation are unsurpassed by those of any journal in the United States. Whatever else it may fail in, it certainly will not fail to furnish the news, nor to supply it with such promptitude, spirit, freshness, abundance, variety, accuracy and candor, that no class of readers can miss anything of interest which they wish to find. THE WORLD will publish documents and arguments prepared by political foes just as freely as those prepared by political friends; making its own comments on them, of course, but never suppressing or garbling them because they are calculated to damage its own party. Adverse arguments, which it cannot refute, it is content to leave to make their full impression. THE WORLD accepts this rule because it believes no other is honest; because it conceives that its first duty to its readers is to keep them thoroughly informed on every passing subject of importance. In politics, THE WORLD will continue to be the bold advocate of a Liberal, Progressive Democracy. The unflinching champion of Freedom, Justice, Order and Constitutional Rights. The inspiration of its politics is Freedom restrained by Justice; or, to speak more strictly, Freedom pure and simple, in the largest collective measure; the office of justice being merely to protect freedom from encroachments; Freedom of the individual citizen in his rights of thought, speech, religion and locomotion; in his Right to choose his food and drink, in spite of meddlesome temperance laws; in his Right to make any money bargains he thinks proper, in spite of foolish usury laws; in his Right to buy and sell in all markets, domestic and oreign, in spite of unjust protective tariffs; in his Right to representation in the legislative bodies which tax him, in spite of unconstitutional exclusions; Freedom of collective citizens to assemble for discussion of grievances; Freedom of all local communities to manage their local affairs without central interference; Freedom in every section of the country from the arrogant and unconstitutional domination of other sections; this large and comprehensive idea of Freedom sums up the politics of THE WORLD, which will never be found wanting to this capital interest of the country and of the human race.
In its accurate Commercial Intelligence and careful, reliable market reports, THE WORLD will continue to maintain its present high reputation. A paper published in the commercial metropolis is naturally looked to for authentic information relating to trade, commerce and finance; and this being a feature in which the THE WORLD prides itself, it boldly challenges comparison with every journal in the metropolis.
EDITIONS.
The WEEKLY WORLD, a large quarto sheet, same size as Daily, is now printed throughout in large type, and has the largest circulation of any weekly journal published, save one. Its extraordinary success since its union with the New York ARGUS has justified the most liberal expenditures, which will make it unrivalled in interest and value to farmers. Published Wednesday.
1. Its Market Reports embrace the New York, Albany, Brighton and Cambridge Live Stock Markets; the New York Country Produce and General Produce Markets; special and valuable Hop Intelligence; a department of Agricultural Reading; all together composing an unrivalled handbook of current information for the Farmer, Live Stock or Produce Dealer, Country Merchant, &c.
2. A page or more reserved for entertaining Fireside Reading for the Family circle, embracing the freshest and best Stories, Poetry, Religious Reading, etc., and a page for the Discussion of all Prominent Topics of general interest, political agricultural, financial, literary, etc.
3. Its Digest of the News is not, like most weeklies, a mere waste-basket of the Daily; only matters of interest and importance are chosen from the Daily, while the mass of its contents are prepared especially for the Weekly.
In every postoffice district there should be found some active, public spirited Democrat, who will confer a benefit upon us, his neighbors, and the cause, by counseling with his Democratic friends and making a determined effort to form as large a club as possible for the WEEKLY WORLD.
The SEMI-WEEKLY WORLD is a large quarto sheet, same size as Daily, which, by omitting a great mass of city advertisements from the Daily, contains all its news, correspondence, editorials, commercial and market news, cattle market and provision reports, and a fresh and entertaining miscellany of literature. Published Tuesday and Friday.
The DAILY WORLD affords a complete compendium of, and commentary upon, the news of every day.
TERMS.

ESTEY'S COTTAGE ORGANS are still ahead of all competitors and stand unrivalled in POWER, PURITY OF TONE and BRILLIANCY, and all other points which go to make a first-class instrument.
The "VOX HUMANA TREMOLO" is the greatest of all modern improvements on reed instruments. It CHARMS and SURPRISES all who hear it, by its wonderful resemblance to the HUMAN VOICE. Do not confound this with the common tremolo in use. It is entirely different, and far superior to any other.

The effect of your "Tremolo" is entirely new to me, and is certainly the best I ever heard.—GEO. W. MORGAN. [The first Organist of America.
No Tremolo has yet been invented that will in any degree compare with this for beauty of effect. In fact, it seems to me to be absolutely perfect.—WM. A. JOHNSON, Pipe Organ Builder.
Estey's Cottage Organs are without a superior for exceedingly quick articulation and round tone—the essential features in instruments of this class.—GEO. JARDINE, Pipe Organ Builder.
The Cottage Organ is the best of its class I ever saw, and the best adapted for church music of any in use.—C. HEINTZ, Organist, Findlay, O.
I am much pleased with the Cottage Organ which I purchased from you; it combines sweetness and power in an unusual degree, and is quite a favorite in our family circle.—BISHOP SIMPSON.
We know no organs of the class which possess so many valuable qualities.—INDEPENDENT.
For the parlor, its sweetness is remarkable; for the church it has a power more organ-like than anything we have seen.—METHODIST.

PROMINENT CHARACTERISTICS.
I.—They are Instructive.
"As purely literary works, these historical romances possess a high degree of merit. They read like genuine histories.—Catholic World.
"They are correct descriptions of the countries and the people described."—Herald.
II.—They are Entertaining.
"We regard these books as among the best and most entertaining novels of the day."—Springfield Republican.
"The reader is at once fascinated and held spellbound until the volume is completed."—Free Press.
"There is no dull chapter in it."—Utica Herald.
III.—They are mirrors of the Times.
"No one can pursue them without conceding the author's great skill in grasping and delineating the characters which figure conspicuously in them.
"The study which enables the author to delineate so accurately the emotions and incentives to action which moved men and women of a past age must be close and unwiring, and Louisa Muhlbach shows in all of her works a perfection which carries the reader into the very presence of the characters represented."—Syracuse Journal.
IV.—They are Historically Correct.
"Historically correct, and as entertaining as many of the volumes of Sir Walter Scott."—Providence Herald.
"Louisa Muhlbach must have carefully and diligently studied the secret histories of the times and countries of which she writes, and her task is done well and effectively."—Worcester Spy.
"No Historical Novelist has labored so faithfully and successfully to reproduce a complete picture of past times and events."—Utica Herald.
V.—They are Original.
"It has agreeably surprised readers to find a new writer with such constructive genius and knowledge of character as Louisa Muhlbach possesses."—Public Ledger.
"Each succeeding novel adds to Mrs. Mundt's reputation as a writer of historic fiction.—" N. Y. Times.
VI.—They are full of Invigination.
"She is not only the skilful joiner, but a neat-handed artizan."—Christian Witness.
"There is seldom any straining after effect, but it is really wonderful how Madame Mundt manages to sustain and increase the interest to the end."—City Item.
"The word-painting of the authoress is much more effective than the best efforts of the engraver."—Illinois State Register.
VII.—They Contain Anecdotes of Courts.
"Scottish history offered no fresher and more romantic material to the magic working hand of Sir Walter Scott than she finds in the annals of the German courts."—Evening Gazette.
"There are not to be found anywhere in human annals, unused, such magnificent, such superabundant materials for romance, as clog the chronicles of the Prussian and Austrian courts of the 18th century. By their dress, their manners, their modes of thought, their language, they are almost as much separated from us as if they had lived one thousand years ago."—Observer.
VIII.—They tell about Emperors, Kings, and Queens.
"We learn from her not only how Frederick William and Frederick the Great, Joseph the Second, Voltaire, Rousseau, Baron Trenck, the Empress Catherine, walked and talked in their grand roles, but how they powdered their, hair, flirted, and took tea.' —Register.
"The choice of her subjects exhibits her genius She takes the time of Frederick the Great, Joseph the Second, for example, and upon the background of facts which the chronicles of the periods affords, she embroiders the bright and sombre colors, the light and shades of her fiction, with the skill of a consummate artist."—The Eagle.
IX.—The Style is Interesting.
"The style of this writer for purity, perspicuity, and elegance, is something greatly to be commended. It is free from imitations, mannerisms, and tricks of every kind."—The Argus.
"The translations do justice to the vivid, piquant style of the original; and the story is full of movement and crowded with instructive and entertaining incident."—The Chicago Post.
"The interest of the book does not depend upon its characters nor its incidents, nor yet on its charming style, but on its general harmony of composition."—Day Book.
X.—Everybody is Reading them.
"Our people seem to have stopped reading French novels, and English works are complained of as dull. Miss Muhlbach precisely supplies the public want.
"The novels of Clara Mundt are being read by every one."—Times.
"Muhlbach's novels have a world-wide reputation, and are read with avidity, as fast as issued from the press."—Springfield Republican.
"They are winning a wide and deserved popular ity in this country."—State Journal.

MEDICAL.—DR. A. S. SMITH, having resumed the Practice of Medicine, solicits a generous share of the patronage of the community. Office in his residence, at St Clairsville.
He would call the attention of the public, and to those more immediately interested to the following: His health being too delicate to bear much of the fatigues and exposures consequent on general practice, he has adopted a speciality in the profession.
Soon after commencing practice, some twenty years since, he was attracted by the almost universality of female complaints, both in the married and single state. Partly from natural inclination, and in order to obtain success in practice, these complaints were made the subject of incessant study. These alterations, displacements and deranged functions of the organs peculiar to the female, are owing to that refined sense of delicacy on the part of the female, who, ignorant of the consequences, prefers to suffer in silence rather than expose her situation. Seldom cured by the general practitioner, who is prevented by this delicacy from acquiring by experience that tact and skill necessary to discriminate the exact change present, and contents himself with prescribing for the deranged functions, or overlooking the cause, simply for attendant nervous disorders, founding his prescriptions on a Plethoric Anaemonic state of the general system and the result is no benefit, as the number of the long suffering females bears ample testimony. Believing that he has, from long and special attention paid to them, acquired that skill in discriminating and experience in treating, he solicits the suffering to give him a call. No charges for consultation or examination. Visits made to all parts of the county.
Applications for medicines can be made in writing by accompanying stamp for return letter.—Medicines sent when desired. TERMS invariably cash for all medicines and instruments.

THE GREAT CAUSE OF HUMAN MISERY. Just Published, in a Sealed Envelope.—Price six cents.
A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment and Radical cure of SPERMATORRHŒA, or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits, resulting from self-Indulgence or Sexual extravagance, &c.—By ROB J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the "Green Book, &c.
The world-renowned author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of Self-Abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife—pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically. THIS LECTURE WILL PROVE A BOON TO THOUSANDS AND THOUSANDS.

1867.—"THE WORLD."—1867.
The attention of the public is invited to the claims of "The World" as one of the leading public journals of the country. It is the chief organ of the Democratic Party of the United States, and the foremost advocate of the immediate restoration of the Union. Its highest merits consists in its character as an enterprising and trustworthy newspaper.
The next year bids fair to be a more critical one in the history of our free institutions than even any eventful ones that have preceded it. The first requsite for an intelligent judgment of public affairs is a full and authentic account of facts as they transpire. These THE WORLD always aims to give with conscientious accuracy, and with equal fullness and fidelity, whether they make for or against its own views of public policy. Prompt activity in spreading before its readers every kind of news in which any part of the public takes an interest, is the first duty of a newspaper, and the facilities of THE WORLD for discharging this obligation are unsurpassed by those of any journal in the United States. Whatever else it may fail in, it certainly will not fail to furnish the news, nor to supply it with such promptitude, spirit, freshness, abundance, variety, accuracy and candor, that no class of readers can miss anything of interest which they wish to find. THE WORLD will publish documents and arguments prepared by political foes just as freely as those prepared by political friends; making its own comments on them, of course, but never suppressing or garbling them because they are calculated to damage its own party. Adverse arguments, which it cannot refute, it is content to leave to make their full impression. THE WORLD accepts this rule because it believes no other is honest; because it conceives that its first duty to its readers is to keep them thoroughly informed on every passing subject of importance. In politics, THE WORLD will continue to be the bold advocate of a Liberal, Progressive Democracy. The undinching champion of Freedom, Justice, Order and Constitutional Rights. The inspiration of its politics is Freedom restrained by Justice; or, to speak more strictly, Freedom pure and simple, in the largest collective measure; the office of justice being merely to protect freedom from encroachments; Freedom of the individual citizen in his rights of thought, speech, religion and locomotion; in his Right to choose his own food and drink, in spite of meddlesome temperance laws; in his Right to make any money bargains he thinks proper, in spite of foolish usury laws; in his Right to buy and sell in all markets, domestic and oreign, in spite of unjust protective tariffs; in his Right to representation in the legislative bodies which tax him, in spite of unconstitutional exclusions; Freedom of collective citizens to assemble for discussion of grievances; Freedom of all local communities to manage their local affairs without central interference; Freedom in every section of the country from the arrogant and unconstitutional domination of other sections; this large and comprehensive idea of Freedom sums up the politics of THE WORLD, which will never be found wanting to this capital interest of the country and of the human race.
In its accurate Commercial Intelligence and careful, reliable market reports, THE WORLD will continue to maintain its present high reputation. A paper published in the commercial metropolis is naturally looked to for authentic information relating to trade, commerce and finance; and this being a feature in which the THE WORLD prides itself, it boldly challenges comparison with every journal in the metropolis.
EDITIONS.
THE WEEKLY WORLD, a large quarto sheet, same size as Daily, is now printed throughout in large type, and has the largest circulation of any weekly journal published, save one. Its extraordinary success since its union with the New York ARGUS has justified the most liberal expenditures, which will make it unrivalled in interest and value to farmers. Published Wednesday.
1. Its Market Reports embrace the New York, Albany, Brighton and Cambridge Live Stock Markets; the New York Country Produce and General Produce Markets; special and valuable Rop Intelligence; a department of Agricultural Reading; all together composing an unrivalled handbook of current information for the Farmer, Live Stock or Produce Dealer, Country Merchant, &c.
2. A page or more reserved for entertaining Fireside Reading for the Family circle, embracing the freshest and best Stories, Poetry, Religious Reading, etc., and a page for the Discussion of all Prominent Topics of general interest, political agricultural, financial, literary, etc.
3. Its Digest of the News is not, like most weeklies, a mere waste-basket of the Daily; only matters of interest and importance are chosen from the Daily, while the mass of its contents are prepared especially for the Weekly.
In every postoffice district there should be found some active, public spirited Democrat, who will confer a benefit upon us, his neighbors, and the cause, by counseling with his Democratic friends and making a determined effort to form as large a club as possible for the WEEKLY WORLD.
The SEMI-WEEKLY WORLD is a large quarto sheet, same size as Daily, which, by omitting a great mass of city advertisements from the Daily, contains all its news, correspondence, editorials, commercial and market news cattle market and provision reports, and a fresh and entertaining miscellany of literature. Published Tuesday and Friday.
The DAILY WORLD affords a complete compendium of, and commentary upon, the news of every day.
